This writing course is specially designed for ESL and Second Language Speakers of English. This means that if you grew up speaking a language other than English, this class will focus on issues that will help you write more like a native speaker. We will focus on grammatical issues that plague second-language learners, learn English essay writing conventions, and prepare you to take WR 135. We will focus on academic writing, which will help you succeed in future, non-writing classes.

Note: This class is “by instructor approval.” So if the class is listed as “full,” please come anyway! I’ll add you during the first class.
