Stalking Safety Tips:

- Don't try to reason with a stalker.
- Document all stalking related behavior. For example, keep copies of emails and text messages from the stalker.
- Treat all threats as legitimate and inform public safety or the police.
- Vary your routines and routes to work, school, and the store. Try not to travel alone.

What Is Stalking?

A pattern of repeated, unwanted contact that puts a person in fear for their safety.

How Do Stalkers Stalk?

- In person: Following you, making threats, dropping by your home, school, or work.
- Through others: Contacting those you know or posting information about you online.
- Through telephone: Calling repeatedly, or repeatedly calling and hanging up.
- Through mail: Sending unwanted letters, gifts, and email.
- Through cyber stalking: The stalker might use GPS, Spoof card, spyware, or social networking sites to track and find information about you without your permission.
