What is Stalking?

- Stalking is a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to feel fear.

- A pattern of repeated unwanted contact
6.6 million people are stalked each year in the United States.
The majority of stalking victims are stalked by someone they know.
Persons aged 18-24 years experience the highest rate of stalking.
90% of all college students participate in “unwanted pursuit behavior” following a break-up
80% of campus stalking victims know their stalkers
3 in 10 college women reported being injured emotionally or psychologically from being stalked
26% of stalking victims lost time from work as a result of their victimization
What Does Stalking Look Like?

- Repeatedly calling, including hang-ups
- Following and/or showing up at class, workplace, social events or home
- Sending unwanted gifts, letters, texts, or e-mails
- Damaging a person’s home, car, or other property
- Monitoring phone calls or computer use
- Use technology (cameras or GPS) to track a person’s movements
What Does Stalking Look Like?

- Threatening to hurt the victim, their family, friends, or pets.
- Finding out about someone using public records or on-line search services, hiring investigators, going through garbage, or contacting friends, family, neighbors, or co-workers.
- Other actions that control, track, or frighten a person.

Hey! what are you doing here?
I thought you were stalking that woman?

I am. It's just so much easier since she got a Twitter account.

Sure when Robert Pattinson does it it's romantic, but when I do it it's creepy.
