Job Summary:

The Art Department <http://www.wou.edu/art/> at Western Oregon University invites applications for a full-time position teaching foundations of art & design to undergraduates. This is a renewable non-tenure track position with full benefits, to begin September 2019.

You might be the ideal candidate! Do you radiate energy, enthusiasm, and a vast knowledge of visual language? Do you continuously adapt in order to connect with students from a wide range of backgrounds? Do you emphasize the power of art & design to create meaning and communicate? Are you at home in both digital and traditional media?

Expected teaching load is about 90% foundations/10% upper division. Courses may include beginning 2D design, foundations of digital art & design, beginning drawing, digital illustration, digital photography, time-based media, and special topics. Specific schedule will reflect the needs of the department and the university's general education program, and the instructor's individual expertise.

Other responsibilities include a minimum of 5 office hours weekly, university- and program-level assessment practices, and participation in biennial faculty exhibitions.

We are not considering candidates who require Visa sponsorship support. Additionally, the university typically only considers visa support for employees placed in specialized positions that are continuing regular university appointments.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Terminal degree (MFA or PhD) in Art, Visual Communication Design, or a related field.
- Experience teaching art & design foundations in higher education
- Expertise using Adobe software for art & design
- Professional experience in art & design
