

Make it Okay

Falling away, when I make it back, I can't seem to stay.
Even though I want to I always come unglued
And it's me that drags myself away.

Can I start over? Can I just say I'm sorry?
Where do you want me to go and who do you want me to be?
Cuz nothing else is more real than you right now.

But still I'm learning to trust You
Through this life
Now and always
You make it okay--
I never want to be away
From You.

You're my words and you're my voice.
You're the stillness that keeps me grounded.
When I feel the panic in the motion
Of life moving everywhere at once;

When I'm apologizing in my head for things I never said
But maybe should have,
When monotony and mediocrity scare me
Cuz they're the safety I know.

Cuz nothing else is more real than You right now.
But still I'm learning to trust You,
Still I'm learning to trust You,
Still I'm learning to trust You
Through this life,
Now and always,
You make it okay--
I never want to be away
From You.

From You.