James T. Russell "Voyage to Excellence"

Installed in: The year 1999.

Location: Out front of the Werner University Center.

James T. Russell creates sculptures from hand-polished stainless steel that are both low-maintenance and in harmony with their surrounding environment. The torch-like structure fittingly titled "Voyage to Excellence" graces the front of Werner University Center, inspiring students to pursue the voyage towards academic excellence.

"My work is my outlet. It allows me to channel my creative energy and to inspire others with beauty. It was my intent to create art that touches the lives of millions every day, and I am grateful to have done that...With my work, I seek to inspire and uplift the human spirit and to touch that part of each person's soul that harbors the desire for beauty, serenity and harmony."
