

WOU College Republicans (WOUCR)

Like they're counterparts WOUCD, WOUCR has been active on campus throughout the last forty-six years. The group was once called the "Young Republicans" when it was first documented in "The Grove" (Western's year book).

Since those early days of the 1960s, the group has come to be known as the Western Oregon University College Republicans. The last few years have seen increased activity on campus; from attending national conferences, to holding bi-weekly meetings in the Werner Center.

WOUCR was actively involved in the Republican primary featuring Kevin Mannix, Jason Atkinson, and current nominee for Oregon Governor Ron Saxton.

Shown are various photos and campaign items from some of the most recent Republican campaigns, including a bumper sticker from the Bush 2004 campaign.
