VIII. Funds Proposals

I. RHA Exec, Fight Night

I. RHA logo stress balls to hand out at Fight Night, in order to promote RHA in a fun way, while giving people the opportunity to release some stress while their favorite local celebrities are in the ring.

I. $270 to 4imprint for stress balls

I. 150 balls with the RHA logo, price includes shipping costs and room for a buffer

II. Posters from the WOU Print Shop to advertise Fight Night all around the Residence Halls

I. $50 to Print Shop for posters

III. Carter reclaims the power at 7:24pm

IV. Josh moves to allocate $270 to 4imprint for the RHA Stress Balls

I. Brandon K. seconds

V. Q&A

I. Mitchell: Is 150 balls enough? We have a lot more students that attend WOU than 150.

I. Carter: Yes, usually less than 150 people will show up to a program, so we might even have extras afterwards.

II. Abby: Why stress balls?

I. Carter: They will be a fun thing to pass out and then keep on your desk. Plus they will familiarize people with the RHA logo.

II. Anthony: Plus we will have all these fun foods and we just want to promote RHA and show that we put on fun free events.

III. Abby: How much will this program cost?

I. Carter: Around $850 so far, if everything gets approved and such

VI. Discussion

I. Ellen: I like how the stress balls just have the RHA logo instead of the Fight Night logo, because if we have extras we can reuse them for other programs. Plus stress balls are more of a timeless knick-knack, vs. fidget spinners.

- II. Brenda: Stress balls will also be timely because of finals week
- III. Bridget: They will be a great advertisement for those who may not be familiar with RHA

VII. Vote: 20:0:0

VIII. Bridget moves to allocate $50 to the Print Shop for Fight Night posters

- I. Brandon seconds

IX. Q&A

- I. Salvador: Are you also advertising on the TVs as well?
 - I. Carter: Probably, yes.
- II. Mitchell: Do you want the Hall Governments want to advertise on their social medias too?
 - I. Carter: That'd be nice to do the week of, but also we will be advertising on our own social media too.

- II. Nov 16th 5-7 in the Ackerman lobby

- IV. Requesting funds for stamps, envelopes and cookies. $110 for the event, hoping for an attendance of 50.
- V. Anthony moves to allocate $110 to Fred Meyer for stamps, envelopes, and cookies for Cookie for a Call Home

- I. Salvador seconds

VI. Q&A

- I. Salvador: Have you thought of making a YouTube video of it?
 - I. Josh: No
- II. Morgan: Are you going to supply things like colorful markers or stickers or something fun to decorate the letters with?
 - I. McKenzie: Yes
- III. Mitchell: You're only expecting 50 people? Out of all the students that attend WOU?

I. McKenzie: Yes, 50 people is a pretty reasonable number to shoot for.

IV. Eliza: Are you advertising in all of the halls?

I. McKenzie: That's the plan!

V. Mitchell: What about having it in multiple locations?

I. Brandon and Josh: We chose Ackerman because it is a nice open area with a central location. Most importantly, you don't have to fob into the building. Also, we are going to be advertising in all of the residence halls though, we are not trying to specifically target just Ackerman residents.

VII. Discussion

I. Josh: One thing we may consider doing is have it in Ackerman from 5-6 and then Heritage from 6-7, if you think it would be better to expand from just Ackerman. We can discuss this.

II. Emma: This is a really cool program idea, and I think Ackerman will be a great location for all of the reasons you said.

III. Mitchell: This is a cool program but you should have it more than once or in more than one location to maximize the amount of students coming.

IV. Morgan: If this program has a good turnout, I think it would be cool to see maybe once a term, or even more.

IX. Super Suit Up Committee:

I. A program where you can make your own superhero cape and wear it to PJJ and Midnight Movies. Will happen on November 17th in Mount Jeff from 5-7.

II. They need supplies to make the capes, such as:

I. Fabric, elastic, glitter glue, puff paint, felt

II. $200 to Craft Warehouse for all the items

III. Getsi moves to allocate $200 to Craft Warehouse for cape supplies

I. Brenda seconds

IV. Q&A

I. Salvador: What colors will the cape fabric be?

I. McKenzie: TBA

II. Mitchell: What type of fabric are you getting?

- I. Eva and Ellen: Whatever Craft Warehouse has available that will be most cost effective and work best for this program
- III. Brandon: Where and when will the event be held, and where are you shopping for it?
 - I. Carter: In here (Mount Jeff) on November 17th from 5-7 and we are shopping at Craft Warehouse.
- IV. Josh: To your knowledge has this been done before?
 - I. Carter: In my (almost) four years here, no.
 - II. This is not the first time a Justice League movie has come out.
- V. Mitchell: When will the event be?
 - I. Carter: 5-7 on November 17th in here (Mount Jeff).
