FAMILY EXAMPLE:

Based on a household income of $45,000 in a family of four, a 20-year-old dependent student attending a public university in Oregon full time could expect to receive $1,500 annually under the Shared Responsibility Model of the Oregon Opportunity Grant. This model assumes a consistent work effort of 15 hours a week annually as well as a modest borrowing level of approximately $3,000 a year. This student would also qualify for available Federal Pell Grant money of $3,350 annually.
