

Margaret Gentle Hall

I started grade school in 1927. My first grade teacher was Mrs. Witherspoon, and she was also my second grade teacher and my third grade teacher. She was a beautiful lady. She had a black velvet dress that I just loved.

I played the first violin and my best friend played the first violin too. We were always asked to play duets and solos at various meetings. We must have been just horrible . . . but we had a lot of fun.
