

Earth Science 106 Extra Credit reading assignment

Bill Bryson wrote A Short History of Nearly Everything. ISBN: 0-7679-0818-X

- Chapter 18 The Bounding Main
- This chapter is due by 3 PM Sunday April 22.

Submit a file I can open: doc, docx, txt, rft, pdf, ppt, wps, xls, etc. by attachment to email to brownk@wou.edu. Do not paste the content in the message body. Use “ES 106 xc 18” as the subject of the email. Include ‘18’ and your name in the name of the file, please.

It is a popular science book, presenting some of the materials we cover in our class in a less-formal manner than our textbook. The entire book is interesting, but only the chapters specified are extra credit for this class. If you read the chapter, write a short summary (1-2 pages) of it, with enough information to convince me that you really read it. Any students submitting identical papers will split the credit between them. This book is available for sale in our bookstore, and at popular booksellers in the area, and in our library on reserve. It is also available to check out at local public libraries.