

Math 212, Winter Term 2008
DAY 1 ANNOUNCEMENTS & ASSIGNMENT GUIDE
Maria Fung

Welcome to Math 212! Math 212 is a continuation of the 211-212-213 series and is very much like Math 211.

Monday, January 7, 2008 Schedule

- ✓ Fung away at a national mathematics conference
- ✓ Day 1 Announcements & Assignment Guide passed out by Heather and Britney
- ✓ Official Math 212 Skills Test administered (first attempt)
Your testing results from today will be brought to class on Wednesday, January 9. You may also check in with Sharyne Ryals, Mathematics Office, Arnold Arms, 3rd floor anytime Tuesday, January 8 to find out if you passed the skills test. If you did not pass the test on your first attempt, you may try again, re-tests need to be scheduled with Sharyne Ryals. If you pass the Factor and Multiple Skills test by Friday, January 11, you will earn 10 points extra credit towards your Math 212 grade.

Assignments

- ✓ LOOK OVER the Math 212 class web page, go to: <http://www.wou.edu/~fungm> and follow the links. If you have a home computer, bookmark the class web page.
- ✓ Syllabus: Using the link on your Math 212 class web page; read the course syllabus. Note Maria Fung's office hours for Winter Term.
 - New for 212: Scavenger Hunt; this is listed on your Math 212 syllabus, directions and topics will be passed out on Wednesday, January 9
- ✓ Make sure you have the COURSE MATERIALS listed on the class syllabus.
- ✓ Complete the Math 212 email assignment (linked to the Math 212 hw page).
- ✓ Read Section 5.2 (§5.2) in your textbook

Tuesday, January 8, 2008 Schedule

- ✓ Fung away at a national mathematics conference
- ✓ Two hour lab; meet in the HAMERSLY LIBRARY Computer Lab, Room 108. Class will be a computer based lab class using Cardstock and Virtual Fraction Bars and Online Fraction Bar games.
- ✓ Bring your hardcover Conceptual Approach textbook and your manipulative kit Fraction Bars to the computer lab class.
- ✓ Student coordinators: Heather Boettcher and Britney Macnab will help you with this lab.
- ✓ All directions and assignments for the lab will be linked to your Math 212 Assignments page. You should easily be able to complete the assignment during the two hour lab class. The assignment will be due Wednesday, January 9 at the beginning of your regularly scheduled class.

Wednesday, January 9, 2008 Schedule

- ✓ Fung returns; class resumes in regularly scheduled room; Arnold Arms 104.